

First Link®

YOUR LINK TO DEMENTIA SUPPORT

- Choosing a healthy lifestyle can improve your brain health, such as:
 - ⇒ Reduce stress, practice relaxation, meditation or other stress reduction techniques.
 - ⇒ Make healthy food choices.
 - ⇒ Quit or avoid smoking and avoid excessive alcohol consumption.
 - ⇒ See your doctor regularly, both for check ups and any specific health concerns.
 - ⇒ Track your numbers: keep your blood pressure, cholesterol, blood sugar, and weight within recommended limits.

The Alzheimer Society of BC provides First Link® dementia support that connects people with dementia, their caregivers and their families to support and learning opportunities at any point in the progression of the disease. First Link® is available in all communities across the province, and can be accessed in three ways:

- A referral from a health-care provider or a community organization.
- By visiting one of the Alzheimer Society of B.C.'s Regional Resource Centres.
- By calling the First Link® Dementia Helpline (1-800-936-6033).

For service in Punjabi, please call the South Asian Dementia Help Line to speak with the Support and Education Coordinator at 604-449-5003 (Monday to Friday, 9 a.m. to 4 p.m.).

Regional Dementia Strategy

Dementia is more than just forgetting. Do I have dementia?

Many older adults, their friends, and their family worry about getting dementia or Alzheimer’s disease. Dementia is not a normal part of aging, and not all older adults will develop dementia. See a doctor if you, family, friends or caregivers notice changes in your ability to function at work, in social settings or in day-to-day life.

Normal Aging	Dementia
Not being able to remember details of conversations or events from years ago	Not being able to recall details of recent events or conversations
Not being able to remember the name of an acquaintance	Not recognizing or knowing the names of family members
Forgetting things and events occasionally	Forgetting things and events more frequently

What are the Signs?

The Alzheimer Society of Canada lists the following as signs of dementia:

1. Memory loss affecting day-to-day abilities.
2. Difficulty performing familiar tasks.
3. Problems with language (i.e., difficulty finding the right words and following a conversation).
4. Disorientation in time and place.
5. Impaired judgement (i.e., cannot make the right decision).
6. Problems with abstract thinking (i.e., reduced ability to understand, think, remember and reason).
7. Misplacing things.
8. Changes in mood and behaviour.
9. Changes in personality.
10. Loss of initiative.

Talk to your doctor if you notice one or more of these happening to you or someone you know in your life.¹

How to keep a Healthy Brain and Lifestyle

- Keep your brain active every day by:
 - ⇒ Playing games that challenge your brain—chess, cards, word or number puzzles, etc.
 - ⇒ Pursue a new interest, learn a new language, play a musical instrument, take a course.

- Staying connected socially helps you stay connected mentally, try to:
 - ⇒ Enjoy events with family and friends.
 - ⇒ Stay active in the workforce or become a volunteer.
