

QUALITY FORUM 2025

Embracing Human Connection

MARCH 11 – 13
VANCOUVER CONVENTION CENTRE

Call for Abstracts

This is your chance to share your work with people who are passionate about improving health care!

In 300 words or less, tell us how you're improving the quality of care for patients, families and communities, fostering a high-quality health system, or creating better environments for those who work within it.

Abstracts can be submitted in one of two categories, depending on the stage of your work:

Outcomes are initiatives underway or complete with demonstrated results and lessons that can be shared. Projects do not have to be considered a success – there are always valuable learning opportunities!

Ideas describe innovative thinking, promising practices or emerging ways of how to improve care that are too young to have results. You can seek input, inspire collaboration or spark action at an early stage.

Presentation Formats:

Rapid Fire: Engage with participants using slides, video, or other media in a 12-minute oral presentation that will be scheduled as part of the main Forum programming. This will also include an interactive Q&A with participants.

Storyboard: Display a 44" x 44" poster throughout the main two days of the Quality Forum, including during our annual Storyboard Reception.

Deadline: Friday, September 6
