Better health care, together

Together, we are Fraser Health

We are grateful for our many partners who help us deliver and transform health care services in our communities. Our partners include Divisions of Family Practice, Fraser Valley Regional Hospital District Board and volunteers. We are also grateful for community organizations such as the Red Cross, Options Community Services and many others who provide vital patient and family support.

Thanks to our generous communities who donate to our foundations and auxiliaries, we are able to enhance the health care experience of the people we serve. Our health care foundations and auxiliaries are important members of our Fraser Health team, and we are grateful for their support.

Our commitment to people

Better health for you means everything to us – that's why we employ the best experts in health care who will be here for you when you need us.

Health care is a calling. A calling to care for people when they need us most and to offer our Best in Health Care.

Together we empower people and communities through innovation for Better Health today and for future generations to come. We stand strong in adversity to meet local and global challenges to improve the well-being of all.

About us

Fraser Health is the largest of the five regional health authorities in B.C. working together with the Ministry of Health. We are responsible for the delivery of hospital and community-based health services to more than 1.9 million people in 20 diverse communities from Burnaby to Fraser Canyon on the traditional, ancestral and unceded territories of the Coast Salish and Nlaka'pamux Nations.
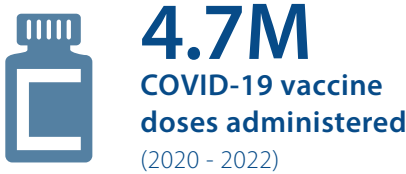

There are six Métis Chartered Communities and approximately 62,000 Indigenous Peoples associated with 32 First Nation communities in the region. More than 90 per cent of refugees and 40 per cent of newcomers to B.C. have settled in our region (2016 Canadian census).
